Dear members,

My name is Cristina Laurenti, I am 23 years old and I have just finished my Master in Agroecology and Food Sovereignty at the University of Gastronomic Science in Pollenzo.

Even if I do not have too many work experiences, I truly believe that AEEU has the potential to involve young people in the agroecological transition by training them but most importantly by helping them find their place as agroecologists in the world. Young people must be felt included and inspired by associations such as Agroecology Europe.

As a young agroecologist, I know which are the challenges that we face when we want to start making our contribution. Sometimes it is incredibly difficult even to know where to start, that is why I think one new project for Agroecology Europe could be to improving the "job" section of the AEEU website, including job offers from agroecological farms and making it more active.

I decided to candidate myself with the hope to bring new points of view and to keep promoting the inclusion of young people.

Thank you for the attention and the opportunity.

Cristina
